

NO. 30

The audience was a very appreciative one, and expressions of highest praise were heard on every side, both for Miss Reid and her pupils.

Gossip.
How frequently are the honesty and integrity of men disposed of by a snipe or a shrike? How many good and generous actions have been shrunk into oblivion by a distorted look or stamp ed with the imputation of proceeding from bad motives by a mysterious and reasonable whisper? Look into companies of these whose gentle natures should disarm them; we shall find no better account. How often does the reputation of a helpless creature bleed by a report which the party who is at the pains to propagate it belabors with much pity and fellow feeling; that she is heartily sorry for it; hopes in God it is not true; however, as Archbishop Tillison wittily observed upon it, it resulted in the intention to give the report her pass that at least it may have fair play to take its fortune in the world to be believed or not, according to the charity of those into whose hands it shall happen to fall—Addison.

Luck.
Abraham Lincoln, after being a member of congress, desired to secure a clerkship in Washington, but he was defeated by Justin Butterfield. He was disappointed, but had he not been defeated he would have spent his life in obscurity instead of becoming president of the United States.
Oliver Cromwell was once on board a ship bound for America, but he was taken back by a constable, and the result was that he became one of the greatest men England ever knew.
Ulysses Grant would not have been a military man had it not been that his rival for a West Point cadetship had been found to have six toes on each foot instead of five.
The great silver mine, the Silver King had been discovered by the lucky accident of a prospector throwing a piece of rock at a lady mine.

Lame Back.
This ailment is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles and may be cured by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm two or three times a day and rubbing the parts vigorously at each application. If this does not afford relief, bind on a piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm, and quick relief is almost sure to follow. For sale by Short & Haynes, Cloverport.

Evils of Anxiety.
Anxiety is the poison of human life. It is the parent of many sins and of more miseries. In a world where everything is doubtful, where one may be disappointed and be blessed in disappointment, what makes life redoubtful and confusion of mind? Can your solitude alter the cause or unravel the intricacies of human events? Can your pride pierce through the cloud which the Supreme Being hath made impenetrable to mortal eye? To provide against every important danger by the employment of the most promising means is the office of wisdom, but at this point wisdom stops—Solovet.

A Healing Gospel.
The Rev. J. C. Warren, pastor of Sharon Baptist Church, Belair, Ga., says of Electric Bitters: "It's a God-send to mankind. It cured me of lame back, stiff joints, and complete physical collapse. I was so weak it took me half an hour to walk a mile. Two bottles of Electric Bitters have made me so strong. I have just walked three miles in 30 minutes and feel like walking three more. It's made a new man of me." Greatest remedy for weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints. Sold under guarantee at Short & Haynes Drug Store, Pine 50c.

The Great Peil of Ware.
In Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" Sir Toby Belch accuses Sir Andrew Aguecheek of pen a challenge and to put in it "as many lies as will lie in the sheet of paper, although the sheet were big enough for the bed of Ware." This enormous bed, which was a wonder in Shakespeare's time and still exists in Ware, is seven feet six inches high and ten feet nine inches square, so that twelve people can lie comfortably in it. Beautifully carved, it is a splendid specimen of antique furniture, dating from the days of Queen Elizabeth. This wonderful bed is naturally an object of curiosity and interest to many visitors. In the same room there hung a pair of horns, upon which all strangers formerly were sworn.

Common Colds Are The Cause of Many Serious Diseases.
Physicians who have gained a national reputation as analysts of the cause of various diseases, claim that if catching cold could be avoided all a long list of dangerous ailments would never be heard of. Every one knows that pneumonia and consumption originate from a cold, and chronic catarrh, bronchitis, and all throat and lung trouble are aggravated and rendered more serious by such throat attacks. Do not risk your life or take chances when you have a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure it before these diseases develop. This remedy contains no opium, morphine or other harmful drug and has thirty years of reputation back of it, gained by its cures under every condition. For sale by Short & Haynes, Cloverport.

A Prehistoric Monument.

In southern California, in the county of San Luis Obispo, there is situated one of the most remarkable prehistoric monuments known to the archaeologists. From a distance it looks like an immense rock rising from the plains of California, but upon nearer approach it is seen to be a temple of extraordinary dimensions and of unknown antiquity. The lower court has a level floor 225 feet long and 125 feet wide, and the ceiling is from 80 to 100 feet high, according to situation. The building was evidently used by prehistoric man, but for what purpose and how long since no one knows. It has been suggested, however, that it was either a temple of worship or the capital of some ancient government. The walls and portions of the ceiling are beautifully decorated with paintings in colors red, white and black, many of them supposed to have some symbolic meaning.

THOUGHTS

"My boys may go to ruin though the legalized saloon by your consent but your boys never will by my consent"—Frank C. Cooper.

BOYCOTT. Bab!

ELECTRIC lights? Yes!

GRAND jury next week.

SATURDAY is "pot" day.

GIVE the young blood a chance.

WELL, we have a commercial club.

A CHURCH is wanted at Tar Springs.

GOD bless the women of Cloverport.

DID you ever taste any "cream ale"?

BAD roads make rough roads in cold weather.

FOUR of our councilmen seemingly "decline to answer."

COMMERCIAL club met last night. Why don't you join?

ABSENCE makes the heart grow harder, when it comes to local opinion.

LET the people hear from Judge Moorman on the county school system.

BE sure now, and go to the mass-meeting at Oelze's hall Thursday night.

HARDINBURG was the guest of an Ex-Governor last week, from all reports.

ONE thing in favor of Cloverport—Its Mayor is not afraid of the city council.

FOUR legged dogs are given more attention than two legged dogs in Cloverport.

SOME interesting information will be forthcoming at the grand jury next week.

If you have a news item, please telephone it to the News. We will appreciate it.

BE a man, a manly man. If you don't like the News tell the editor, not his friends.

ELECTRIC lights to light our Thanksgiving dinner. Won't that make the turkey taste good?

LIGHTING Cloverport is evidently a paying business. We hear of several prospective bidders.

WE have no blind tigers in Cloverport. Our tigers are too busy to trouble themselves with blinds.

THE town of Mitchell has a chance now of another railroad. Advice to Cloverport: Beware of Mitchell.

Our subscription list is increasing every week. That shows the News gives a "square deal to every man."

THE way to buy whiskey in Cloverport is to get in the "pot." The law won't bother you. Don't be afraid.

YOU take out the stopper and it goes biz! biz!! pop!!! But that's just "cream ale," a progressive name for beer.

If whiskey makes a prosperous town, Cloverport ought to be the most prosperous village on the face of the earth.

LET the Mayor send for Folk, maybe he could draw witnesses out to the city's advantage. Jimmie said he couldn't.

CLOVERPORT is all right when it comes to hand-some churches. Site you to the Catholic, Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist.

REAR Glasscock & Co.'s ad. You may need a plow or fertilizer for your crops. If you do, Glasscock & Co. will treat you right.

WONDER if Hardinburg organized a commercial club? They were going to—but that is about as far as Hardinburg ever gets.

CHESSAULT is away up in the north-eastern part of the county but the News has a correspondent there and a good bunch of subscribers.

WE offer a bargain this week. The News one year and the Farm Journal, of Philadelphia, five years, both for $1. Now, can you dodge that.

"NO EVIDENCE" is a petty plea when it comes to the enforcement of Cloverport's local option law. What good does it do to give evidence?

MARION WEATHERHOLT is a progressive man. He has already cut the poles for our electric light wires. Come on Marion, you are all right.

AND the prophecy of some of our councilmen to the effect that we must have saloons to pay for electric lights didn't come true. But, maybe the town has been playing a "get-rich-quick" game.

QUESTION—What merchant wants the trade that whiskey will bring to town? It is an insult to the good people surrounding Cloverport to even mention that they will come to town because they can get whiskey here.

LET our farmers raise tomatoes a while instead of tobacco. We believe there is more money in tomatoes than tobacco. You farmers have a good market in the Polk Company here, and the tomato crop is not a twelve-month crop, either.

EX-MAYOR BARRY said he was abused for eight years while in office. We offer condolence. The editor of the News has been in (his) office for thirty years, and we dare say we have been abused twice that long. An editor gets double time.

BE sure and read our great combination subscription offer of the Breckenridge News for a year and the Farm Journal for the balance of 1906, and all of 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910, nearly five years, both papers for the price of one. Just walk up to the captain's office and draw the greatest prize you ever drew.

THE city Council commanded the marshal to enforce the dog tax but when it comes to enforcing the ordinance against selling spirituous, vinous or malt liquors it is not any of their business. It seems to us if they have power to enforce one ordinance, they have power to enforce all. Why should there be any favoritism?

JOTTINGS

By The Kid.

If you don't like what the editor does, kick him.

It never does him in Hardinburg.

That's a dry town.

There's a lot of diamonds in the snow for the coal man.

A whole lot of people are written down as well as written up.

Ain't it funny that every body hates cold weather except the coal men.

Wh- John Rockefeller starts to boring for oil in Tobinsport they have a well you know.

Somebody don't civered up my spring boards in the city bridge wild stumbling back. I's mad, too.

I see no use to have a commercial club but de have hamquets and give the boys something to eat.

We are getting four eggs a day now from our thirteen hens. Ma is thinking of making a cake for Washington's birth-day.

We went out walking in the woods the other day and saw a sign that read like this: "No travelin' thron hear."

Massays that de preachers don't often fool her. Says she kin tell when he's preaching for the "lasses as well as the massen."

Saturday is "pot" day. Understand?

If not, stand on corner Main and Elm streets next Saturday and use all your senses. You'll learn.

I asked my ma if it was any harm to a milliner to get married. She said no, not if the milliner could get a foreman to run things.

I don't see no use in me mase teachers waiting till June to get married when dey already engaged. It'll save yo pa a heap o' coal if you'll go on and take the ring now.

Ain't no use to say things what hurt a fellow's feeling and say, "I'll do some body some good. Then, by jove, each body for the fellow hain't no right to do what will hurt his feeling when he's told about it.

If you don't lack the News stop it. But don't go over and read your neighbor's after you've stopped it coming to you. You are not living up to a dead level with the two commandments when you do that.

There is a calf at Hites Run with no eyes, only holes where the eyes ought to be. Wonder if any big towns like Francisco, Chicago, Loneyville or Cloverport ever had any coticesmen in a fix like that Hites Run calf.

Make a note now to get Ely's Cream Balm if you are troubled with nasal catarrh, hay fever or cold in the head. It is purifying and soothing to the sensitive membranes that line the air passages. It is made to cure the disease, not to fool the patient by a short, deceptive relief. There is no cocaine nor mercury in it. Do not be talked into taking a substitute for Ely's Cream Balm. All Druggist sell it. Price 50c. Mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

RETURN OF SPEAKER KIEFER

WAS CHAIR OF THE HOUSE WHEN PRESENT SPEAKER "JOE"
CANNON WAS MEMBER

Is One of the Three National Speakers Who Have Been Returned to Congress After a Long Lapse of Years.

The return of General J. Warren Kiefer to Congress after an absence of 22 years is more than passing interest for the masses that he was Speaker of the House which was organized in 1851. It was a famous Congress and Kiefer's pathway was not one of roses. He became involved in a controversy with H. V. Boynton, then dean of the Washington correspondents, and the latter attacked Kiefer's patriotism from public life. He was but 48 when he finished his fourth term in the House. Since then he has had been here but has been prominent in civil and military life. He returns to Congress after 22 years. He was Speaker of the House under Nathaniel P. Banks and Galusha A. Grow. They had been Speakers

NO INSURANCE LEGISLATION.

Congressmen Will Talk, But Won't

Legislative experts at Washington do not look for the passage of an insurance law during this session. The House and Senate have both passed bills, but they will talk much about it. There will be a great deal of discussion on the floor of both houses. Senators and Representatives alike will vie with each other in denunciation of the methods of the insurance magnates as exposed in the legislative investigation which occurred in New York. Already divers and sundry lawmakers at both ends of the Capitol have submitted remarks that have attracted their constituents to increased admiration of the eloquence and alertness of the men whom they have had the wisdom and the good sense to elect. But in the end nothing will be done—that is, nothing except a heap of talk.

No Constitutional Provision.

The reason of this is that the Judiciary Committee, both of the Senate and House, thus early have about concluded that the Constitution of the United States does not provide for the kind of legislation which is recommended in the President's message.

Meanwhile, a great deal of wirepulling is going on in favor of the federal proposition. It cannot be asserted that any one of the numerous bills thus far presented has the approval of either President Roosevelt or Senator Dryden, though it is presumed that a measure embodying their views will be submitted within the next few weeks. It is known that so anxious are the insurance people for some legislation taking away from the States the supervision of insurance companies that they are prepared to spend unlimited money in the work of education, but thus far they have not been able to make much headway.

Like all campaigns of education to which Washington has become accustomed, it is expected that the usual legislation of speculation as to the outcome will be indulged, but this will not effect the judgment or the conduct of those members of Congress who have the final decision of the question through their influence with the Judiciary Committee.

States Insist on Rights.

A factor in no considerable weight in the matter is the insistence of nearly all the State governments upon their rights in the premises, and as they do not seem to care to lend further aid at this juncture to the centralization movement which is rapidly becoming an acute issue in State politics, it is regarded as altogether likely that the Federalization of insurance will at least be held in abeyance for some time yet.

Aerial Mail Box.

In Delaware, an ingenious citizen by the name of Taggart lives on a high hill some little distance off the main road. The hill is of loose gravel, and at its foot is a small creek, lancet looking and easily forced in ordinary weather, but swelling rapidly with heavy rains. The rural carrier, whose route extended to Mr. Taggart's residence, found the frequent high water and the rough, hilly road such a source of delay and inconvenience that he had ordered the route changed and Mr. Taggart was directed to place his box on the main road. Taggart protested, declaring that he would not walk that distance. Then his inventive brain conceived the idea of an aerial mail box. At a convenient corner of his porch he placed a window, with a small steel cable extending down to the box post on the main road, around a deeply-grooved wheel on the post, and back to the porch. As the rural carrier's box is in position, the cable, forming the link for the broken wheels, the box is tilted with the wheels, which run on a fixed cable stretched tight from the porch to the post.

When the mail carrier reaches the box-post (which is visible from the porch), he puts in the mail and raises a signal. Some one at the house takes the handle of the window and turns it rapidly, and the box, with its burden of mail, comes sailing up the wire. The mail is then returned to the box.

CHARACTER OF AARON BURR

Defender of His Fame Was Willing But Didn't Know Tricks of Oratory.

The first secret society with which I was ever affiliated was called the "Omega," which was two-thirds literary and one-third social, said an old college man, who has since won distinction as a national orator and campaign speaker. In our rival society, the "Alpha Rho," this order of things was reversed and we prided ourselves greatly on the fact that our "readers" outranked the "flow of soul." Ours was a good deal of a debating society, and though I carry some reputation as a speaker, I was either too bashful or too ignorant to take part in any of the debates.

One of my intimate chums was named Grant, who excelled in that line and although much younger than the average member, never hesitated to cross words with the older ones and was not infrequently the victor. He was very anxious that I should learn to debate, and frequently urged me to at least make a commencement, saying that after I had gotten over my embarrassment, I would enjoy the fun and excitement.

The subject of debate one evening was to be, "Was the influence of Aaron Burr, good or bad?" Grant knew that I was quite an admirer of Burr, had read quite extensively about him, both in history and fiction, and said to me that this would be an excellent opportunity for me to make my debut.

Grant himself was to answer one of the oldest and best debaters and I could answer the one who followed him. Grant was a very good speaker, and I told me to listen carefully to what the opponents urged against Burr, to cite my authorities, and to make a list of the names of the debaters. He told me to listen carefully to what the opponents urged against Burr, to cite my authorities, and to make a list of the names of the debaters. He told me to listen carefully to what the opponents urged against Burr, to cite my authorities, and to make a list of the names of the debaters.

During the day I thought much of the subject. I was to play in the coming drama, and there seemed to me no reason why I should not score a triumph. I was to play in the coming drama, and there seemed to me no reason why I should not score a triumph. J. WARREN KIEFER AT 48 AND AT 70.

many years before and their return was notable. Each, like Kiefer, lived for years without prominence in politics but both were older when they came back. General Kiefer is now 68 but remarkably hale and hearty. He was always a conspicuous man and is the more so now because of his white hair and beard which were tawny brown in the days of his speakership. He clings to the garb of the old time statesman and wears at all times an old fashioned swallow tailed coat cut much like the dress coats of today. General Kiefer served four terms in Congress, coming to Washington first for the special session of 1877. He was chosen Speaker of the 47th Congress, June 1881, serving but the first term. Last year he was nominated for Congress and had no very hard time in getting the honor. The district is strongly republican and his majority was the largest ever given any candidate.

General Kiefer has a great war record. As a fighter and leader he had few equals in the Union army. He was practicing law when the first alarm of war was sounded in 1861 and he at once volunteered as a private. Before going to the front he was commissioned major and was promoted very rapidly, reaching in 1863 as brevet major-general and as lieutenant in active service. At the battle of the wilderness in 1863 he was severely wounded but would not give up. He stayed at it until he was rendered. A hero soldier he could not resist the call to arms and made a most conspicuous volunteer. He commanded a brigade of Virginia in the Virginia battles that led up to Appomattox. At the battle of Appomattox, General Kiefer had the experience out of the ordinary. Going alone to look to observe the lines of the enemy he found himself suddenly surrounded by a large body of confederates. They could not distinguish his Federal uniform in the dark and he was shot on the occasion. Wielding his horse about he cried out in tones of command: "Attention, men, fight like boys, march!" Thinking it was one of their own officers the confederates followed him into the Union camp where to their disgust they found themselves prisoners.

He returns to Congress vigorous and eager for active participation in the councils of the nation. As an ex-Speaker he has been given a chairmanship and was also allowed the privilege of choosing his own seat without going into the lottery scramble. Speaker Cannon was in Congress during general Kiefer's term as Speaker and they were warm friends. General Kiefer represented the 10th Congressional district in Ohio containing his manufacturing establishments. He has found few of his colleagues in the House. Many are dead and many more long ago retired to private life. Cannon and Kiefer were of the same age and both were of the same generation. They were both of the same generation. They were both of the same generation.

Very Tragic.

A man who usually crumpled at everything and on every occasion was attacked by rheumatism. He was carefully nursed by his wife, who was very devoted to him in spite of his fault-finding disposition. Sometimes the sight of his suffering caused her to burst into tears as she sat at his bedside. One day a friend of the invalid came in, and asked him sympathetically how he was getting on. "Badly, badly," he exclaimed, "and it's all my wife's fault."

"Yes," the doctor told me that damp places were bad for me; and there my wife sits and cries just to make the air in the room moist."

CORRECT ACCOUNT. MR. CAIN'S DEATH.

Tragic Ending of His Life At Own Hand With Pocket
Knife.

PREVIOUS REPORTS INCORRECT.

Perhaps the most tragic death that ever occurred in our midst, was that of W. H. Cain, Jr., on the morning of Jan. 17, at about 6:30 o'clock at the home of Floss J. Jolly, where he and his family were temporarily residing.

"Billie" Cain, as he was familiarly called, whose wife had died, just two weeks since, and moved over his loss of wife and of home (having recently sold all his earthly possessions) until his mind gave way under the strain. His reason defunct, he conceived the idea of ending his troubles by taking his pocket knife and cutting his throat.

He and his youngest son, Hubert, were sleeping in separate beds in an upstairs room and the night had been spent in restless sleep as far as the son knew. Some twenty or thirty minutes before Hubert arose from his bed he heard his father, as he thought, stepping out from his bed not realizing what had happened until he himself arose a few minutes later to find his father lying dead on the floor.

W. H. Cain was born Oct. 2, 1847, in his childhood days he joined the M. E. Church South, and lived in his father's home until the death of his father, when he was a young man.

He was a devoted husband, a loving father and faithful in the discharge of his duties as a Christian. Loved and respected by all who knew him, he will be greatly missed in the home, in the church, and in the community of which he was an exemplary member.

Deceased was 58 years, 2 months and 21 days old. C. H. D.

Memorial Resolutions.

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God in His wise providence, to permit the untimely death of W. H. Cain, Jr.,

We, your committee, beg leave to submit the following report, viz:

W. H. Cain, Jr., was born Oct. 2nd, 1847, and grew to manhood in this community, in childhood he united with the M. E. Church South, and at all times gave unswerving evidence of being a devout Christian.

He was happily married to Sallie Jolly on the 6th of September 1872. A few years after he removed to Kansas, and lived some forty years in that state while in Kansas he united with the M. E. Church and for some time he was Class leader and Superintendent of the Sunday School. On his return to Kentucky he united with the M. E. Church South, and was a faithful member of the same, serving as a member in the Sunday school and steward in the church faithfully and conscientiously meeting and discharging all duties incumbent on him. As a husband loving and true as a father, protecting and caring for a citizen, true to the best interest of his country as a Christian, devout and faithful.

Therefore be it resolved, 1st, That in the untimely death of W. H. Cain, Jr., the bereaved children have lost a loving father, the community, a respected and honored citizen, the church a faithful member.

SCALY ECZEMA ALL OVER BODY

Eruptions Appeared on Chest, and Face and Neck Were All Broken Out—Scalps and Crusts Formed—Lowa Lady Has Great Faith in Cuticura Remedies for Skin Diseases.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA

"I had an eruption appear on my chest and body and extend upwards and downwards, so that my neck and face were all broken out; also my arms and the lower limbs as far as the knees. I at first thought it was simply heat, but soon scales or crusts formed where the breaking out was. Instead of going to a physician, I purchased a box of Cuticura Remedies, in which I had great faith, and all was satisfactory. A year or two later the eruption appeared again, only a little more bad, but before it had time to spread I procured another supply of Cuticura Remedies, and continued their use until the cure was complete. It is now five years since the last attack, and I have not seen any signs of a return. I have taken about three bottles of the Cuticura Remedies, and do not know how much of the Soap or Ointment, as I always kept them with me; probably one half dozen of each. I am now a healthy woman, and feel as well as ever."

"I decided to give the Cuticura Remedies a trial after I had seen the results of their treatment of the Cuticura Remedies, and continued their use until the cure was complete. ABOUT MR. LEONARD COX.

Leonard Cox, as a son of Attila Cox, was one of the prominent young men in Louisville society at one time. He received the appointment from this congressional district to the Naval Academy at Annapolis. There he was graduated some years ago with high honors and since that time has been in the engineer corps of the navy. He was prominently identified with the construction of the United States dry docks at the mouth of the Potomac river, which rank high in the list of governmental engineering enterprises. He has also been connected closely with other similar engineering work for the government and is considered as one of the leading young engineers of the Navy Department.

In view of his attainments in his chosen profession he has been appointed chief engineer of the Henderson Route. He will succeed Mr. K. Hindson, of Cloverport, Ky., who resigned the post of chief engineer some time ago. No assignment has been taken by the Navy Department as yet on his resignation, but it is regarded as almost a certainty that he will be assigned soon to take up the duties of his new position.

Under his supervision will come the completion of many improvements that have been undertaken by the Henderson Route. These comprise the new station at Owensboro and the construction of other stations planned by the route. The completion of the track from West Point to Louisville will give the Henderson Route a direct route to Louisville over its own tracks, and among the most important improvements that will be over-seen. The annual tonnage work of the chief engineer of a railroad system will devolve upon him.—Courier Journal.

CUBAN MINISTER TO THE U. S. Recommends Pe-ru-na.

Senor Quesada, Cuban Minister to the United States, is an orator born. In an article in The Outlook for July, 1899, by George Kennan, who heard Quesada speak at the Estable Theater, Matanzas, Cuba, he said: "I have seen many audiences under the spell of eloquent speech and in the grip of strong emotional excitement; but I have rarely witnessed such a scene as at the close of Quesada's address upon the dead patriot, Martí." In a letter to The Peruna Medicine Company, written from Washington, D. C., Senor Quesada says:

"Peruna I can recommend as a very good medicine. It is an excellent strengthening tonic, and it is also an efficacious cure for the almost universal complaint of catarrh."—Gonzalo De Quesada.

Congressman J. H. Bankhead, of Alabama, one of the most influential members of the House of Representatives, in a letter written from Washington, D. C., gives his endorsement to the great catarrh remedy, Peruna, in the following words:

"Your Peruna is one of the best medicines I ever tried, and no family should be without your remarkable remedy. As a tonic and catarrh cure I know of nothing better."—J. H. Bankhead.
